The tearing down of the brick building on Court street removes a landmark that has been familiar to citizens for many years. It was built in 1819 by Samuel Bell, and it is said that many distinguished visitors, notably, DeWitt Clinton, Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, have been entertained within its walls.

Don't miss the Hillsboro Fair. The managers have spared neither money or time to secure everything necessary to make this a model meeting. They never have nor can receive pecuniary benefit from this enterprise, and as it is a benefit both the town and county should receive the encouragement and patronage of all.

Death of Capt. James Elliott.

Died, at Hillsboro, Ohio, July 27th, 1890, Capt. James Elliott, in the 81st year of his age.

The deceased was born in Rockbridge county, Virginia, May 10th, 1810. In early childhood he removed with his parents to Ohio and settled in this county, where he remained till the time of his death. He was married in November, 1834, to Jane Boggs, whom he survived but little over one year, she having died in April, 1889. To this union were born nine children, three only of whom are now living. The deceased had been an invalid for twenty-two years, and his affliction was such as to forbid active participation in any avocation, consequently the associations of his late years were limited to a comparatively small circle of neighbors and friends. Before his affliction, however, he was one of our best known, active and energetic citizens, engaged largely in trade and agriculture, and will long be remembered for his jovial and hopeful disposition. He possessed in an eminent degree a sympathetic and unselfish nature, and was greatly beloved and respected by all who knew him.

During all his long sickness he never yielded to discouragement, nor uttered a complaint. The last few weeks of his sickness, whilst his suffering was constant and severe, undiminished of self, his solicitude and anxiety were constantly exercised in behalf of his tender and faithful watchers. On account of his long affliction he left no worldly estate, but the remembrance of his noble and helpful life and example will be embalmed in the hearts of his family and friends, and constitute a legacy beyond computation.

He has entered on the rewards of a faithful and Christian life, freed from the entanglements and vexations of earthly environments.
Peace be to his ashes! W.
Hillsboro, O., July 28, 1890.Hamer Township School Case.

In the case of Wilkin vs. the Board of Education of Hamer township, which has excited considerable interest throughout the county, Judge Huggins on last Tuesday granted a provisional injunction restraining the Board from building on the old site. The claim that the present site is too swampy is not considered as having much merit, but the grounds of the decision are these: that the old site is not at the center of population nor at the geographical center of the district, although it may have been at a former time when the population was differently distributed; that the fact of being located near a graveyard, while it would not be in itself a sufficient objection, ought to have weight when a site is objectionable for other reasons; that the plaintiffs are not estopped from their relief because they waited till the contract had been let, since they began to take action, about the time the first spade was thrust into the earth and the laborers began to sweat. This decision does not violate the contract of the bidder, but prevents the erection on this particular site.

Mr. L. A. Ireton, of Batavia, is visiting friends at this place.

Do not fail to hear Gibley's band concert Monday next at 1:30 p. m.

Miss Tracy Trimble gave a delightful dance at Miss Sara Murphy's dancing hall on Tuesday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Alvis.

Mrs. Joseph Baige and children, who has been visiting her mother for the past two or three months, returned to her home at Columbus last Saturday.

The number of entries received up to this date by Mr. John S. Jolly, Secretary of the Hillsboro Fair Company, insures the filling of each race and three solid days of trotting, pacing and running. The lovers of the race course will miss a rare treat if not present on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Hillsboro Fair will occur next week, and this will be our last opportunity to call the attention of our readers to the fact that every indication seems to point to a successful and interesting meeting. Tolbert, the well-known parachute man, will make one of his wonderful leaps from a balloon each day of the fair, and numerous other special attractions will be found on the grounds.

There will be a social soldiers' reunion and old-fashioned camp fire held at Newport, Adams county, on the 15th of August next. The beautiful "thicket" on the farm of Comrade Morrison has been selected as the place of meeting. Good music, good speakers and a general good time is expected. Refreshments (strictly excluding rum) will be on the grounds, while the feature of the evening will be an old-time bean and hard-tack supper flavored with fat pork. All old soldiers and their friends are cordially invited. For particulars address either of the Committee of Arrangements: W. W. Morrison, Thos.

DID YOU EVER

of your favorite baking powder to see if all the ingredients are published?

Ammonia, a substance injurious to health, is an adulterant of some high-priced baking powders advertised and generally believed to be "absolutely pure." Cheap, prize, and gift powders contain alum, terra alba, &c., as well as ammonia.

Housekeepers who desire pure and wholesome food should refuse to buy ANY baking powder, no matter what its reputation, unless all the ingredients are frankly made known.

For many years all the ingredients used in Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder have been published on every label, and the analysis as stated is verified by Official Reports, the highest testimony in the land.

CLEVELAND BAKING POWDER CO.,
81 & 83 FULTON STREET, NEW YORK.Our Institute.

In all professions the members have some time to spend in recreation; the ministers have their annual conferences, where they meet and spend a week that is of benefit to them both socially and mentally; the attorneys visit the sea side or some other congenial place; but of all these no profession has more pleasant meetings or places of resort than the teachers. While we cannot all spend the vacation at Chautauqua or attend the State or National Associations, we are glad to know that we have a place within our own county where we can meet for one week.

The Highland County Teachers' Institute convenes in Town Hall at Hillsboro August 11 and closes August 15. It has been the aim of the Executive Committee to make this an interesting and enjoyable session. The instructors need no introduction to the teachers of the county. Messrs. Smith, Shannon, Gall, Barrett and Strange will leave nothing undone that will in any way be an advantage to the teachers.

The social and reunion Monday and Friday nights will afford ample opportunity for all to become acquainted. The lectures for Tuesday and Thursday nights will be above the average. Prof. Wright on "Alcohol, the Deceiver," will undoubtedly interest all. It is unnecessary to say that Highland's teachers will gladly welcome Dr. Hancock on Thursday night.

We hope that each teacher in the county will consider it a duty to be in attendance the first morning and remain during the week. Teachers, let us renew our covenant and resolve to better prepare ourselves for our next year's work. Although the action of our Boards of Education in regard to decrease of salary is not encouraging, let us show by our efforts that salary alone is not our aim.

To the citizens of Hillsboro we give a cordial invitation to attend our sessions and insure a hearty welcome. Indeed, it is encouraging to us to see them present. Farmers, you whose children will soon be placed under our charge for the next nine months, we ask you, if in Hillsboro during our session, to make us a call and see for yourselves that we are there for one single purpose: to better prepare ourselves for the coming year's work.

In conclusion we will say that the outlook is very encouraging for a large attendance and an enthusiastic Institute. Reader, your presence will aid us to make it so. Teacher, we expect you to be in attendance each day and we hope that young and old alike will remember that this is their work and that all will engage actively in the work. Hoping to see all in attendance we are
Your humble servants,

Death of Miss Sarah Collins at Eureka Springs, Ark.

A dispatch came from Eureka Springs, Ark., on Saturday last to C. H. Collins, Esq., of our city, announcing that his sister, Miss Sarah Collins, had died on Friday, July 25th, and that she would be buried at Maysville, Ky., the place of her nativity, on Tuesday, July 29th. Miss Collins was at the springs for her health, and for some years past had tried other southern so-called health resorts, having spent two winters near Mobile, in Southern Alabama. The usual result followed, as it is always the case that going South for health invariably is fatal to invalids. The bracing atmosphere of north-western resorts or the dry air of Colorado furnish the remedy for debilitated constitutions. Miss Collins was a daughter of General Richard Collins, of Maysville, Ky., but has for many years lived with her sister, Mrs. Julia A. Owens, at Dayton, O. She was a woman of a noble, unselfish Christian character, and devoted her life to good works and to the interest of her widowed sister and children, for whom no sacrifice was too great. She was finely educated and highly accomplished, and a consistent and devoted member of the Protestant Episcopal Church since childhood. In society she was an ornament and her conversation a source of pleasure to all, and as a sister her memory will be ever cherished by those who survive her. We hope to give a more extended notice hereafter, as we suppose memoirs of Miss Collins will appear in Dayton and Maysville papers. She spent some time in Hillsboro in 1886 with her brother, but has not visited here since that time. Mr. C. H. Collins went over to Maysville to attend her funeral, he being the only brother in Ohio. Of her two remaining brothers one lives in South-eastern Missouri and the other in Georgia.

Remember, during the fair and for 30 days, we will sell all kinds of goods at the lowest prices we have ever made before. We are recognized by everybody as the cheapest house in town.
